Theme: The New Silk Road by Peter Frankopan (A Documentary Film, 46 Minutes)

What if the silk road will be the new major road in the Future? And what if this new silk road will not have the old Europe as the leading continent? Is the new silk road the end of the old world?

The Storyline of the Film (Content)

British historian Peter Frankopan, author of the bestseller "The Silk Roads: A New History of the World" paints an unexpected portrait of Western civilization and the way we perceive its position in the world: old Europe is convinced to be the best, most prosperous and safest region. Europeans think that they have a good position in the actual world, absolutely denying the new world order that is currently happening. The power is shifting from West to East. Until today, the world history was a western-centered enterprise - based on the belief that everyone should be like us, or at least should want to be. The power center shifts along the lines of the new silk roads, from West to East. How should we adapt to this new world order?

You are welcome and free to join watching the documentary film.

We will have free talk and discussion afterwards about the film and related issues and views.
