Theme: The Men Who Stole the World: Inside the 2008 Financial Crisis (47-Minutes Film)

Through the eyes of experts and former employees on Wall Street, this film examines how a group of powerful executives helped trigger one of the largest global financial crises ever, how they got away with it, and why another crisis may be under way.

このフィルムでは、強力なエグゼクティブのグループは世界最大級の金融危機からどのように立て直したか、そしてなぜ水面下で更なるの危機が進行中なのか、ウォール街の専門家と元従業員に話を聞きながら辿っていきます。

The Storyline of the Film (Content)

In the banks, enabled by government policies that sought to promote home ownership, gave loans to those who could not decades leading up to the financial crisis of 2008, US afford to pay them off, and these loans were then packaged into risky financial products that were sold worldwide. Between 1994 and 2006, the number of subprime mortgages - loans granted to people with low credit scores - increased from $35bn per year to $600bn per year. The economic crisis that eventually followed had a devastating impact. From 2008 to 2011, almost 30 million people around the world lo, although some experts argue the numbers are much higher, in the trillions. Few relatively smaller players, such as Philip J Baker, featured in the film, who was a former managing partner of a US-based hedge fund collapsed during the financial crisis, were imprisoned. But no Wall Street chief executives have been to prison, even though there is today absolutely no doubt that Wall Street executives and politicians were complicit in creating the crisis. This film asks who are the biggest culprits of the 2008 crash, what did they do, and how were they able to walk away?
